City Wiped Off Map in 'Mock' Nuclear Attack

Make-believe Bomb Hits Near Charleroi-Monessen Bridge

Theoretically, there is no Monessen today.

The City was wiped out yesterday afternoon when a two megaton H-bomb hit at ground zero near the Charleroi-Monessen bridge.

Such a blast — had it actually occurred — would have devastated everything within a three mile area. The entire Monongahela Valley would have been covered with dangerous radio-active fallout.

The make-believe nuclear pummeling was part of a nationwide Civil Defense test yesterday.

About 2,718,000 Pennsylvanians — or close to 25 per cent of the state's population — would have died or been seriously injured by nuclear bombs had yesterday's simulated warfare been the real thing.

62,572 Are Killed

In the Monessen district alone, 62,572 persons would have died. Another 28,686 would have been injured.

The Pittsburgh area, which theoretically suffered under the explosion of twin two-megaton H-bombs would have had 920,903 fatalities. In and near Philadelphia, another 765,500 would have died in the explosion of two bombs of the same caliber as blasted in western Pennsylvania.

The only hope of Monessen residents in yesterday's explosion would have been evacuation. The test alert sounded at 11:30 a. m., about two hours before the make-believe blast.

However CD preparations would have been the difference between life and death for valley residents outside of the fatal three-mile radius.

One of the most complete CD drills occurred in Fayette City where five care centers were mobilized almost immediately. This could have saved many lives in an actual attack.

Some Shortcomings

District CD officials today studied the results of the test before describing it as a success.

There were obvious shortcomings, but the public cooperation held up well. There were only scattered reports across the state of persons who defied orders from civil defense authorities.

In Monessen, the "all clear" signal sounded about 14 minutes after the alert. But it meant little, theortically, since the nuclear bombs had already taken their toll.

In all, four H-bomb and two A-bombs hit Pennsylvania, killing almost two million persons and injuring more than a million more.

At Valley Forge, where Boy Scouts from all sections of the country are holding a nationwide jamboree, state police sirens sounded the "take cover" warning. Scouts took refuge in tents, automobiles and foxholes in what police said was an "excellent" example of cooperation.

Oldest Senator, Theodore Green, Is Heat Victim

WASHINGTON (UP) — Eighty-nine-year-old Sen. Theodore F. Green, oldest man ever to serve in the Senate, was in satisfactory condition today following his collapse at a diplomatic party.

The elderly Rhode Island Democrat fell victim to "heat exhaustion" Friday night at a reception at the Pakistani Embassy. An aide said he probably will spend several days in nearby Bethesda (Md.) Naval Hospital where he is being treated.

A hospital spokesman described Green's condition as "satisfactory." Dr. George W. Calver, the Capitol physician, did not attend Green Friday night but said he would examine him early today.

Green's collapse came at a reception for Pakistani Prime Minister Huseyn Shaheed Suhrawardy, one of the many diplomatic functions the Rhode Island senator attends in his capacity as chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Edward J. Higgins, Green's administrative assistant, said Washington's sticky summer heat apparently got the best of the veteran senator. The temperature rose to 91 degrees late Friday afternoon and remained in the upper 80s during the evening.

Despite his collapse, Green apparently made a partial recovery almost immediately. Higgins said the senator left the party under his own power and was treated by a physician at his bachelor quarters in downtown Washington.

Green was then driven to the Bethesda hospital by Higgins.

Cheerleaders to Man Picnic Booths

Beginning Monday at 1 p. m. Monessen High School cheerleaders will man booths downtown to sell amusement tickets for the annual Monessen Community Picnic at Kennywood Park Tuesday, July 30.

A strip of seven tickets cost 25 cents if purchased in Monessen. If purchased at the park, the cost will be 42 cents a strip.

HOUSING CODE FOR CITY

Removal Of Rails Contracted

The long-abandoned street car rails in downtown Monessen will be removed late this month or early August, according to action taken by City Council at a 2½-hour session yesterday.

Charleroi Scrap Iron Co., of Charleroi, was awarded the contract to remove approximately 11,000 feet of rails on Donner Ave. from Oneida to 12th streets. Its bid of 70 cents per lineal foot was 27 cents cheaper than the bid submitted by Yoder Construction Co.

A representative of the firm told Council he believes that work on the project will get underway in about two weeks.

The project will cost the city about $8,000.

Once the rails are removed, the state Highways Department will move in and do a complete resurfacing job on Donner Ave. from Oneida to 12th streets.

State Approved

A letter from N. G. Bell, Highways district engineer from Uniontown, informed Council the state has approved the resurfacing program and will begin work immediately after the rails are removed. The state, which took over the maintenance of Donner Ave. earlier this year, will pay for the resurfacing.

In other business during the lengthy session, which was highlighted by the introduction of a 25-page housing code ordinance, Councilman John Kotch asked that action be taken against Stanley A. Kossol, of Charleroi, for his failure to comply with orders to "clean up two of his properties in Monessen that are unfit to live in."

Kotch was referring to two apartment buildings, one at 440 Schoonmaker Ave. and the other at 105 Ninth St. Earlier this year, Kossol was ordered to correct "unsafe and unsanitary" conditions in the two structures.

Kossol was present at the meeting and attempted to give reasons for not carrying out the orders, but he was interrupted by Mayor Hugo J. Parente, who said:

'Called 'Unfit'

"All this you're telling us here has nothing to do with our orders. You have the most disgraceful buildings in town. They are a health menace . . they are rat-infested . . . they are unfit to live in."

The mayor then said that when the housing code ordinance, which was was introduced yesterday, becomes effective "we will be able to get rid of buildings like those belonging to Kossol and other out-of-town owners who care nothing about the deplorable conditions of their properties in Monessen."

In the absence of Director of Streets David Victoria, Kotch asked for immediate repairs for a portion of Seneca Hollow. Kotch termed the repairs an "emergency." The repairs will include the installation of a concrete block tunnel.

Council heard a request from Mrs. W. S. Smallwood concerning a tax lien against her property. Council said it was unable to do anything because it had already assigned the lien to John Paulich, of Monessen. Council said the

Strict Standards To Be Enforced By Ordinance

Monessen City Council yesterday introduced a strict housing code based on the premise that sub-standard housing is a menace to health and that regulations must be enforced in order to safeguard public health and welfare.

The proposed ordinance establishes minimum standards governing the condition and maintenance of dwellings, supplied utilities and facilities and other physical conditions essential to make dwellings safe, sanitary, and fit for human habitation.

It also establishes minimum standards governing the condition of dwellings offered for rent, fixes responsibilities and duties of owners and occupants of dwellings, authorizes the inspection of dwellings, condemnation of dwellings unfit to live in and, finally, provides penalties for violations.

The code calls for condemnation of dwellings that are dilapidated, unsafe, unhygenic and a menace to the health and safety of the community.

First Reading

The ordinance, which was given the first of three required readings at yesterday's lengthy session, fixes the responsibility of violations on either the owner or occupant of the dwelling or both.

Mayor Hugo J. Parente hailed the proposed ordinance as one of the "most progressive steps the City has ever taken."

He said it will have a "far-reaching effect in the welfare of every citizen of Monessen. It is a very thorough and carefully planned measure suggested by the City Planning Commission.

"If and when it is adopted, you can be certain the City will enforce the regulations to the fullest. This code is just the thing we need for making a better Monessen. It will give the City all the power it needs to eliminate some of the 'eyesores' now prevalent."

The proposed ordinance contains 15 sections. Generally, its regulations come under four main classifications:

Basic Equipment and Facilities — Every living unit should have a kitchen sink with hot and cold water, a tub or shower with hot and cold water, a flush toilet and sanitary garbage disposal or storage facilities.

Light, Ventilation, Heating and Electrical Service — These regulations require minimum window areas for every room, adequate heating and adequate electrical outlets.

Maintenance — The ordinance requires that all living units be maintained in a watertight, weathertight, pest-proof and sanitary condition. In this connection, the ordinance fixes the responsibility on either the owner or occupant of the building or both.

In general, the owner is responsible for conditions dependent upon the building structure. The owner of an apartment building, for instance, is responsible for the cleanliness of common spaces such as halls and stairways, while the occupant is responsible for the day-

Stieska Claims Panepinto Firing Was 'Political'

John R. Stieska, as of today the Republican candidate for mayor of Monessen, thinks City Council's firing of Patrolman Phillip Panepinto yesterday was "politically inspired".

Panepinto was dismissed from the force for "failing to make hourly reports to the police station" and for "sleeping on duty".

But Stieska charged in a statement that Panepinto was fired because members of the policeman's family had supported Stieska in his primary campaign against Mayor Hugo J. Parente.

Parente defeated Stieska for the Democratic nomination, but Stieska won the Republican nomination, although the latter contest is now in litigation.

"Regarding the recent firing of Officer Phillip Panepinto," Stieska said, "I feel that it is obvious that this has been politically inspired.

"The fact that Council unanimously concurred with the Mayor does not alter this fact inasmuch as the weak-kneed, rubber-stamp Council acted in accordance with his wishes as usual.

"Although some of the members of his family supported me openly, Phillip Panepinto personally avoided any political activity in my behalf although this cannot be said of quite a number of the police who supported the Mayor.

"Public opinion will not let this move go unchallenged, and I'm sure Phillip Panepinto shall take his rightful place on the police force in due time."

Attorney Suggests Policemen Refuse to Talk to Newsmen

PITTSBURGH (UP) — An attorney for the Fraternal Order of Police has suggested to the city's policemen they would be better off if they refused to talk to newsmen.

Attorney T. Robert Brennan made the suggestion Friday shortly after the end of a police trial board hearing for four patrolmen accused of letting alleged racketeer Tony Grosso be booked on a disorderly conduct charge under a fake name.

"If you tell a newspaperman anything, he'll come in and testify against you," Brennan declared.

Brennan was chief counsel for the four patrolmen, charged with conduct unbecoming an officer by "withholding or confusing the identity of a person who should have been known to police."

Grosso allegedly was beaten the morning of July 3 and then booked at Central Police Station for disorderly conduct under the alias "Joseph Moro."

'Includes Everybody'

One of the eight witnesses at the closed - door hearing was Pittsburgh newspaperman Chester Harris and his wife who told of statements taken from three of the accused officers—Patrolmen William Killeen, George Tarr and acting Lt. Joseph Bell. Also on trial is Patrolman John Duffy.

Brennan said he was recommending to policemen that they "not talk to newspapermen."

When asked if that included desk sergeants who routinely report police activities, Brennan snapped, "That includes everybody."

But Safety Director Louis Rosenberg, who had been listening, cut in.

"The FOP is not going to supercede this department in policy or function," he declared.

Police Supt. James Slusser pointed out all policemen are under orders to give "all pertinent information" to newspapers and the public.

The trial board spent most of Friday hearing evidence from 11 witnesses in the incident. A ruling was expected by next week.

Leader Rejects Bill on Liquor License Quota

HARRISBURG (UP)—Legislation to create a special "country club" liquor license without quota restrictions has been vetoed by Gov. George M. Leader.

Leader rejected the bill Friday, contending it was based on a "misconception" that present quota provisions discriminate against certain racial groups.

"The present quota provision applies alike to all applicants for licenses regardless of race when the quota is reached in a particular municipality, the Liquor Control Board may not issue any more quota licenses," Leader said.

The measure said a "major flaw" in present quota provisions was that they tended to discriminate against racial groups in that they lacked the opportunity to become members of existing country clubs and could not establish their own because of quota limitations.

The bill would have permitted unrestricted issuances of club licenses to establishments where the licensing privilege "will be clearly incidental to the function and operation of the club." It was backed by the operator of a Negro country club at Sterretts Gap, Perry County, who has been unable to secure a liquor license.

Grinnell College Sickness Linked With Asiatic Flu

IOWA CITY, Iowa (UP)—An epidemic that felled 200 youths at a religious conference at Grinnell College has been diagnosed as the same disease that swept the Far East taking hundreds of lives.

Dr. Albert McKee, University of Iowa, said Friday tests have shown the disease to be Asiatic flu. The mild outbreak at Grinnell was the second known appearance of the disease among the civilian population in the United States.

(Larry Carter, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Carter, of Rostraver Twp., was one of those hospitalized for several days. He suffered the attack while at Grinnell attending a Presbyterian youth conference.)

The first epidemic developed on the University of California campus in the last week of June, shortly before the Grinnell conference held early this month, hospitalizing some 200 girls.

Man Leaps from Window During Charleroi Fire

Gerald Sellman, 30, of Charleroi, was painfully injured when he leaped from a second-story window during a fire in his room at the Charleroi Hotel about 1 o'clock this morning.

He suffered fractures of the left wrist and left heel, sprained left ankle and multiple bruises and brush burns about the head, face and body. His condition was reported as "satisfactory" by Charleroi-Monessen attendants at noon.

According to Charleroi firemen, Sellman apparently fell asleep while smoking a cigarette. The cigarette burned the sheets and later the mattress burst into flames. Dense smoke covered the room.

Sellman told police that when he awakened he saw the room in flames. He stated he leaped from the window because he could not get out through the flaming exit door.

Firemen confined the blaze to Sellman's room. They estimated the damage at $500.

Woman Breaks Leg In Fall on Street

Mrs. Innocenza Persico, 66, of 617 Summit Ave., Monessen, was injured in a fall on Sixth St. yesterday afternoon about 2:50, it was learned today.

Mrs. Persico was taken to Charleroi-Monessen Hospital suffering from a broken left leg. Later she was transferred to Allegheny General Hospital in Pittsburgh.

Taxing Bodies Given Permission To Raise More

HARRISBURG (UP)—Legislation to increase the taxing powers of most Pennsylvania communities has been signed by Gov. George M. Leader.

The measure approved Friday allows municipalities to increase the aggregate of all taxes 50 per cent higher than those existing under current law. It also authorizes school districts to increase tax levies about 300 per cent higher than presently allowed.

Pittsburgh, Scranton, third class cities, first class boroughs, and townships, Bloomsburg and second class townships are permitted to levy an aggregate amount of all taxes during any fiscal year equal to the product obtained by multiplying the latest total assessed valuation of real estate by 15 mills instead of 10.

The measure also provided that in second, third and fourth class school districts the aggregate of all taxes during the fiscal year could not exceed the amount equal to the product obtained by multiplying the latest total market valuation of real estate by 12 mills. This was near a 300 per cent increase in taxing powers.

Leader said the measure allows municipalities a "greater opportunity for raising local revenue without placing a further burden on real property." He added it also could reduce the need for state subsidies in some instances.

Leader emphasized the legislation did not raise present taxes, but gave the local taxing authorities permission to do so.

Beck and Son Indicted on Fund Mishandling

SEATTLE (UP)—Indicted Teamster President Dave Beck expressed confidence today that witnesses would testify he and his son, Dave Jr., did not misappropriate union funds in the sale of three Cadillacs.

A King County grand jury Friday returned indictments against the two Becks, charging Beck Sr. on one count of pocketing $1,900 in the sale of a union-owned Cadillac and Dave Jr. with keeping $4,650 realized from the sale of two more Cadillacs.

Beck said there was no question that the money from the sale of all three cars had gone to the Western Conference of Teamsters. He said the money had been transferred to the union "in cash."

He said he "rather doubted" whether conference records would show receipts of the amounts for each car "but you can be sure it will be proved that the money—every penny of it—was received and there will be witnesses who will so testify."

Nomination Battle in County Courts Monday

Three Westmoreland County jurists, sitting en banc, will listen to legal arguments Monday in an effort to determine whether Mayor Hugo Parente or John R. Stieska won the Republican nomination in last May's mayoralty contest in Monessen.

There were strong indications that the case will eventually reach the State Supreme Court.

The County Elections Board and Common Pleas Judge Richard D. Laird have already registered conflicting opinions.

The Elections Board certified Parente as the Republican winner in the write-in campaign, ruling that votes could be counted only if the names of the candidates were properly spelled. On this basis, the Board gave Parente 70 votes to 58 for Stieska.

However Judge Laird, acting on an appeal by Stieska, reversed this ruling on Monday, stating that votes cast for the two candidates under various versions of their names should be counted. Under that ruling, Stieska received 170 valid votes to 149 for Parente.

Parente's attorneys filed exceptions to Judge Laird's decision yesterday and asked the Westmoreland County common pleas court to rule on the issue en banc — all judges sitting together.

One of the county's three common pleas jurists — Judge Edward G. Bauer — disqualified himself since he is seeking reelection in the upcoming general election.

His place on the bench will be filled by Judge Charles D. Copeland, of Westmoreland County orphans court. Judge Copeland was assigned to the case by President Judge Laird.

The third common pleas jurist who will hear the case is Judge John M. O'Connell.

Japanese Beetles Hit District; Damage Heavy

Agriculture officials today outlined two ways to control the Japanese Beetle which has again invaded Westmoreland County.

The beetle, which first appeared in the country only a few years ago, has already caused caused heavy damage. The insects eat shrubbery and lawns as well as fruit trees and other plants around the home and in rural areas.

According to the County Agricultural Extension Service, the beetle is difficult to control. However there are two fairly successful methods.

Since the beetle matures in the ground, one method is to treat the lawn before they make their appearance.

The suggested material is 50 per cent dieldrin wettable powder at the rate of 2½ ounces per 1,000 square feet.

This insecticide should be very carefully watered in as it loses its efficiency when exposed to the sun.

Of course, the solution is poisonous but it will not harm pets and children if watered in properly and if handled with caution.

Another means of controlling the beetle is spraying. All successful sprays are poisonous, though, and should not be used on fruit and vegetables that will be eaten.

The best spray should be composed of three tablespoons of 50 per cent DDT wettable powder and 2½ tablespoons of 25 per cent malathion wettable powder to one gallon of water. This spray should provide coverage for about a week to ten days, unless there are heavy rains. In that event, another spray will be necessary.

All new growth must also be covered to control the beetles.

For persons who desire a duster, a five per cent DDT dust is suggested.

More information on the subject maybe obtained by writing to the Westmoreland County Agricultural Extension Service, Box 216, Greensburg, where a pamphlet entitled "The Japanese Bettle and Its Control" may be secured without charge.

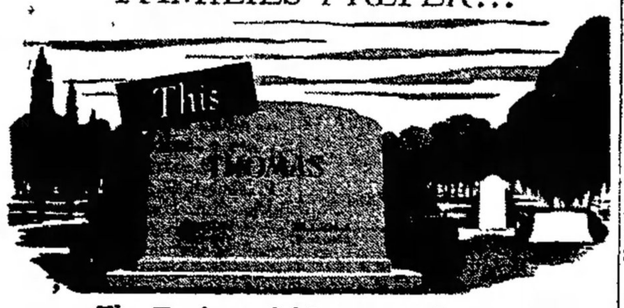
NINE OUT OF TEN FAMILIES PREFER...



The Traditional Monument Cemetery

Most Americans select their family burial plots in traditional cemeteries that allow them the privilege of erecting a monument of marble or granite. Forever beautiful, always visible, it is not only an eternal tribute to the Dead, but an inspiration to the living.

The Cemetery that Forbids Monuments

The park plan cemetery permits only flush metal markers. Devoid of distinction, subject to corrosion, covered with leaves in the Fall and snow in the Winter, the family plot so marked is difficult to find, suffers from monotony. Moreover, for what it costs to mark the average non-monument cemetery plot with individual flat metal markers, you can purchase a beautiful monument of granite or marble.

Group Protests Proposed Dam At Indian Head

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa. (UP)—About 500 residents of the nearby Indian Creek Valley area met Friday night to plan an organized protest to a proposed dam near Indian Head in northeast Fayette County.

The dam would be part of a huge system of aqueducts, dams and reservoirs planned by John P. Ware, noted water authority, to provide water in a several-county area of Southwestern Pennsylvania.

A bill, Senate Bill 676, grants municipal authorities the right of eminent domain to condemn property for the project. Gov. George M. Leader has until July 20 to sign or veto the bill, or let it become law without his signature.

The measure was called a "sneak bill" at Friday night's protest meeting in the Indian Creek Valley Community Center at Indian Head.

Residents protested they had not been consulted on the bill.

They claimed their lands in the vicinity of Chestnut Ridge would be taken to make way for the huge dam, which would hold water channeled from the Indian Creek and the Casselman River.

Some residents said their land would be 1,700 feet under water if the dam were built.

Communities in the affected area contended the project would deprive them of millions of dollars worth of assessable tax properties.

The residents voted to start a "telegram crusade" to Governor Leader urging him to veto the Senate bill. They also agreed to help organize residents of all communities in the district to fight the dam project.

House Democrats in Plan To Give Early Tax Relief

WASHINGTON (UP) — House Democrats sprung a surprise plan today aimed at clearing the way for early tax relief.

They proposed to clamp a limit of 68 or 69 billion dollars on government spending the current fiscal year.

They devised their plan to counter a directive President Eisenhower issued secretly to government agencies several weeks ago to hold spending to almost two billion dollars less than he originally budgeted for fiscal 1958. This would bring government outlays down to about 70 billion dollars.

Democrats, who learned of the order Friday, angrily concluded the President was trying to steal the economy issue from them after insisting the budget couldn't be cut appreciably.

The spending ceiling proposal picked up widespread support from Democratic leaders and the rank-and-file. Some Republicans even endorsed it and an early drive to enact such legislation seemed likely.

Chairman Clarence Cahnon (D-Mo.) said his House Appropriations Committee soon would consider legislation to set a spending ceiling.

Such a spending limit would clear the road for Democrats to push for a tax cut. And if the President vetoed the legislation, Democrats still figured this would restore the economy issue to their side.

Other congressional news:

Civil Rights: The Senate met early today for a long day of debate on the civil rights bill. Tlak of a compromise still persisted. Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.) predicted that "ultimately a position of moderation will prevail."

Girard: Sen. Gordon Allott (R-Colo.) urged the Senate to make a special investigation into the Girard case. He prepared a resolution to set up a bipartisan committee of eight senators to look into the case. He said the committee would cover aspects of the case not covered by the Supreme Court in its decision allowing Army Specialist 3-c William S. Girard to be turned over to the Japanese for trial on manslaughter charges.

Humphrey: Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey wound up his testimony before the Senate Finance Committee after 14 days of intensive quizzing on the administraton's economic policies. Reaction of the committee members to the testimony was mixed with some Democrats joining Republicans in praising the treasury chief. But Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla.) said Humphrey's answers showed that his fiscal policies "failed to accomplish a single one of their stated objectives."

Sports: A House anti - trust subcommittee planned to resume hearings next Wednesday into professional sports. Subcommittee Chairman Emanuel Celler (D-N. Y.) said the group will hear pro-football representatives the following week.

Security: The House Civil Service Committee planned to begin hearings next week into a new proposal for revamping the government's loyalty and security programs. First witness will be Loyd Wright, chairman of a commission on government security. The commission proposed setting up a central security office to hear charges of disloyalty against government employes.

Successor to Aga Khan Is Karim Aly Khan

VERSOIX, Switzerland (UP)—Prince Karim Aly Khan, a serious young student of Oriental history at Harvard University, assumed his duties today as the first atomage leader of more than 10 million Ismaili Moslems.

The handsome, 20-year-old prince, who now will be known as Aga Khan IV, was the surprise choice of his grandfather, the late Aga Khan, to serve as his successor as head of the sect.

The Aga Khan, who died Thursday at the age of 79, provided in his will that Karim be named Imam (leader) of the Shiah Muslim Ismaili community. The announcement Friday night came as a surprise. Aly Khan, Karim's father and former husband of actress Rita Hayworth, at first was believed to be the most logical choice.

The Aga Khan, who is permitted by Moslem law to name his successor, also passed over his younger son, 24-year-old Prince Sadruddin, in favor of Karim.

Leaders of the Muslim Ismaili community gathered in this village on the shore of Lake Geneva today to pay homage to the new Aga Khan, which literally means "honorable leader."

to-day maintenance of sanitary conditions in the interior of his apartment.

number of square feet required for each room is the minimum to provide sufficient light and air for health rather than other considerations. The code requires that access to all sleeping rooms be had without the necessity of going through another sleeping room or bathroom. Another example of the arrangement regulations is that no living unit should be entirely in a basement.

The above are the main areas covered by the ordinance. Minor provisions regulate special situations such as rooming houses, house trailers and similar living quarters.

The Board of Health, made up of members of City Council and Health Officer Albert Marchione, are authorized in the proposal to make inspections to determine the conditions of dwellings. The Health Officer is authorized to enter and examine any dwelling or unit at any reasonable time. He is to have free access and full cooperation from owners and occupants.

Whenever he discovers a violation, he is to give notice of the alleged violation to the person or persons responsible.

May Get Hearing

In the notice, he is to cite the violation and give the offender sufficient time to correct the condition or protest the citation.

Any person affected by any such notice may request and be granted a hearing on the matter before the Board of Health, providing a written petition is submitted requesting a hearing within 10 days after the notice is served. The hearing is to be held within 30 days after the petition is filed.

The Health Officer is to condemn any dwellings as unfit for human habitation if they fall into the following classifications:

1. One which is so damaged, decayed, dilapidated, unsanitary, unsafe, or vermin-infested that it creates a serious hazard to the health and safety of the occupants or the public.

2. One which lacks illumination, ventilation, or sanitation facilities adequate to protect the health and safety of the occupants or public.

3. One which because of its general condition or location is unsanitary, or otherwise dangerous, to the health and safety of the occupant or public.

Liable for Costs

Any dwelling condemned as unfit is to be vacated within a reasonable time as ordered by the Health Officer. Any dwelling which has been condemned cannot be used again until written approval is given by the Board.

The ordinance also points out that the violator is liable to pay the costs of any work the city has to do to abate or prevent a public nuisance that the offender has refused to rectify. The city may file a lien against the property involved, along with other remedies available for the collection of money due the city.

The proposal states that any person who violates any provision of the ordinance, "shall upon conviction be punished by a fine of not more than $100 plus costs, or by imprisonment not exceeding 30 days; and each day's failure to comply with any such provision shall constitute a seperate violation."

These penalties "are in addition to any other remedies provided by this ordinance or under the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania."

Elks 'Kickoff' Dinner Tonight; Plan 'Work Day'

Albert DeLuca, St. Vincent College football coach, and Mayor Hugo J. Parente will be guest speakers at the Monessen Elks Lodge 773 "kickoff dinner" this evening at 6:30.

The dinner is being held to launch the club's building program. Earlier this year the Elks purchased 42 acres of ground which they intend developing into a recreation park.

At tonight's stag affair, the Rev. Martin J. O'Toole, of St. Leonard Roman Catholic Church, will offer the invocation and the benediction will be by the Rev. Mathias Joensuu, of St. Luke's Lutheran Church.

Thomas F. Preston will be toastmaster.

Tomorrow the Elks will hold "work day" on the property located in Rostraver Twp., just outside Monessen city limits. Members have been asked to volunteer a day's work to help develop the area. Refreshments will be served.

Billy Graham Attendance Up

NEW YORK (UP) — Total attendance at Billy Graham's New York Crusade meetings went well past the million mark Friday night, clinching the evangelist's claim to being the best-drawing attraction in the 30-year history of Madison Square Garden.

The 18,000 persons who filled the Garden to near - capacity Friday night brought total attendance at the 56 sermons Graham has preached there so far to 1,002,000.

Graham will hold a special service for the city's Spanish-speaking population today at which he will speak through an interpreter. His last scheduled weekly telecast is set for tonight (8 p.m. e.d.t., ABC-TV).

Parente will present legal arguments only. There will be no testimony.

Parente's attorneys — Paul K. McCormick of Greensburg and Bernard Shire of Monessen —have indicated that they will base their arguments on an act of June 3, 1937, which provided against the cumulation of write-in and sticker votes on voting machines.

Parente's side claims that Judge Laird's decision was based on rules which apply to paper ballots.

Since the Supreme Court has never ruled on the issue, it was strongly indicated that the case will go before that court regardless of Monday's decision.

It was believed that the Westmoreland judges will hand down their decision without delay, possibly on Monday.

Representing Stieska in the legal battle is Wayne R. Donahue, New Kensington attorney who is the Republican nominee for district attorney in this year's general election.

Parente easily defeated Stieska for the Democratic nomination. Since there were no candidates on the Republican side, both men staged write-in campaigns.

Stieska has already announced that he intends to wage an aggressive campaign in the general election if he is certified as the Republican candidate.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Tarkus, of Perryopolis, are announcing the birth of a son born in the Uniontown Hospital.

Capt. Mary Jane Carr, daughter of Mrs. Janet Carr, of Star Junction, is spending several days at the home of her mother. Captain Carr is a surgical nurse at Walter Reed Hospital in Washington, D. C.

The Girard Case And U. S. Policy

THE DECISION of the U. S. Supreme Court in the now famous Girard case isn't going to please a lot of Americans. But for anyone who is thinking seriously about the position of the United States in today's world, we believe the decision will appear to be the only one possible.

Those who have been criticizing the government's action in turning Sergeant Girard over for trial in Japanese criminal courts and those who will now be criticizing the Supreme Court for sustaining that action — such critics are forgetting that the very safety of the United States today depends, unless our whole foreign policy is wrong, upon our close association with other nations which wish to be free of Communist domination.

But such association has to be an association of equals. It cannot be a master-slave arrangement such as that between Russia and the satellites.

This means that the sovereignty of each nation in the anti-Communist coalition must be respected by all the other members. And so, just because we happen to be the most powerful nation in the coalition, we cannot send our representatives, such as Sergeant Girard, into the other countries under absolute immunity. They must be subject, not only to American military law, but to the civil laws of the nation in which they are serving.

The status-of-forces treaties which we have with many of our associate nations, including Japan, spell out the arrangement. And it was under this treaty with Japan that Sergeant Girard's alleged offense, the killing of a Japanese woman on a firing range, was determined by our government to make Girard subject to prosecution by the Japanese.

THERE is a question of interpretation as to whether this woman was killed while Girard was carrying out his duties. And our government officials may be subject to criticism, depending on the point of view, for deciding that Girard was not performing his duties when he fired at the Japanese woman.

But the Supreme Court says that this was an executive decision not subject to judicial review. And it upholds the status-of-forces treaty under which the decision was made.

For the Court to have decided otherwise would have been to abrogate this treaty. And this in turn would have undermined the very basis of this country's association with other free nations.

Those people who are saying that Americans should be laws unto themselves wherever they go simply have not thought very deeply about today's world and our country's place in it.

'Steel' in Donora

OFFICIALS of the American Steel Wire Division of U. S. Steel in Donora are providing welcome indications that the future of U. S. Steel's operations in that Valley community is somewhat brighter than recent speculation has been picturing it.

The operating level at the Donora plant for the last several months has been well below both the industry average and the average of U. S. Steel's total operations. Layoffs of employes have been on a scale sufficient to worry employes and their families and the community as a whole.

When this condition is viewed against the well known fact that the Donora works is one of the oldest in the U. S. Steel empire, it is not hard to account for the pessimism.

Now this week came the announcement that the company plans to discontinue the smelting of zinc in the Zinc Works by Nov. 1. And since this will affect about 450 other jobs, it deepened the pessimism considerably.

HOWEVER, L. F. McGlincy, general manager of American Steel & Wire operations in the Pittsburgh area, has provided some reassurance.

He has reiterated the company's promise to do its best in helping to find other jobs for the 450 displaced zinc workers. And he has gone still further to say that U. S. Steel plans to hold the site of the Zinc Works for future expansion of the main steel plant.

"In the past," says Mr. McGlincy, "there was simply no room to expand our steel plant. Now the 16 acres which house the Zinc Works will give us room to expand."

Mr. McGlincy's comment is underscored by the fact that the company has been spending money in million-dollar quantities in the past couple of years to modernize the Donora plant. Such expenditures would make no sense were U. S. Steel's plans any different than Mr. McGlincy represents them to be.

We said here the other day that the passing of the Zinc Works and its obnoxious and destructive fumes will prove to be a blessing both to Donora and the rest of the Valley. We'll stick with that opinion.

Merry-Go-Round—

Knowland May Delay Civil Rights

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower blinked when Bill Knowland of California, Senate GOP leader, reported at the last White House strategy meeting: "The filibuster against civil rights conceivably could keep Congress in session until October. Those Southerners are awfully smart parliamentarians. They know every delaying tactic in the book."

Mr. Pearson

Knowland strongly indicated, however, that he would be ready to discuss a "compromise" to prevent a prolonged filibuster which would tie up appropriation bills and other important legislation.

"But the only compromise I would accept," he added, "would be an assurance from the Democratic leadership that the civil rights measure would be put on the Senate calendar for debate on a specific date next January."

"In the event of a long filibuster," inquired the President, "what happens to the rest of our program — the school bill, the OTC (extension of reciprocal trade), the postal rate increase and so on:"

"I guess it would have to be put on the shelf until the next session of Congress," replied Knowland.

Eisenhower said he hoped this wouldn't happen. Once again he stressed his hope for action on the school construction bill. Republican leaders nodded without comment. They consider the school bill virtually a dead duck, not because of the civil rights filibuster, but because of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

Not long ago when the House passed the civil rights bill, the President heartily congratulated House GOP leaders Joe Martin and Charlie Halleck. He said it was an excellent measure. But at this week's White House meeting, he seemed to be getting cold feet.

"I'm a little concerned about Section 3 of the bill," he told Republican leaders. "Senator Russell of Georgia has objected that it may open the door to the use of troops. Nobody wants that. I'm sure I don't. I hope the Senate will carefully look over this section and make any changes that may be necessary."

There was a chuckle when Senator Knowland suggested that the President should not let the Senate filibuster interfere with his "vacation plans."

"I'm giving the House some time off during the filibuster," reported the Californian. "Its members will be taking a recess while we are working in the Senate."

"In that case," interposed ex-Speaker Joe Martin, "Why don't you come along with us, Mr. President? While the Senate talks, you might as well be carrying on the routine business of the White House in Newport!"

The President happily agreed.

Mailbag

Les Weinrott, Chicago — The reason President Eisenhower sent such an icy message to the Truman Library dedication, in contrast to the fact that ex-President Herbert Hoover came a long way to be present, probably goes back to the speech Truman made in San Francisco during the 1952 campaign in which he pointed out that Eisenhower, as American commander in Germany in 1945, should have taken a stand against the Russian corridor around the City of Berlin. Eisenhower has snubbed Truman ever since, would not get out of his car to greet the retiring President when the pair drove up to the Capitol for Ike's first inauguration, and refused to see Truman when the latter tried to pay a courtesy call during the President's visit to Kansas City four years ago. State Department officials have suggested that Truman be sent abroad as a goodwill ambssador to counteract the Khrushchev-Bulganin visits, but Ike has said no. Though Roosevelt and Hoover never got along, probably there has never been a President who felt so strongly toward his predecessor as Eisenhower does toward Truman. . . Harry Walker Boston — This column did not mean to insinuate that Senator Kennedy of Massachusetts made his speech on Algeria merely to scoop Vice President Nixon. This implication was not intended. Fact is that Senator Kennedy has long been a student of Asiatic - African affairs, feels strongly that the United States should take a lead toward promoting independence in these areas. . . S. D., Bismarck, N. D.— Sen. Milton Young of North Dakota was in Washington during the Hells Canyon battle but did not vote. He would have voted for the bill and against the administration. However, White House lobbyists astutely made an engagement for Senator Young with the executive offices on a matter very important to North Dakota so that he would not be on the Senate floor during the vote.

Smokeless Powder

Zorin Using Familiar Tactics

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Chief Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin is pulling an old Communist tactic at the London disarmament talks, but it doesn't mean that a first-step agreement now must be considered lost.

The tendency all along, I believe, has been to view the negotiations through a heavy haze of wishful optimism.

Mr. Drummond

The present set-back simply brings the great difficulties of negotiating with the Russians, quite aside from the difficulties of reaching an agreement, into clearer view.

Based on the past performance of Soviet negotiators, there is no reason to consider the talks at a final dead-end or to feel they might as well be called off. The Soviets would hold up their hands in horror at the thought.

Zorin's Tactics

What has happened is that after American delegate Harold Stassen, at President Eisenhower's direction, advanced proposals which went a long way toward meeting Soviet views, Mr. Zorin met these advances with a monumental iceberg. He refused to say yes at any point, and he said no at several critical points.

What is Mr. Zorin up-to? Is he intent upon scuttling the negotiations? Is his 70-minute deriding of the American proposals equal to a last word of Sovet rejection?

It seems to me the answer to these questions is "no," that Mr. Zorin is not scuttling the talks — certainly not at this time — but is negotiating in form. Here is what I mean

In accordance with Communist negotiating techniques employed in a hundred other conferences — the Korean truce negotiations at Panmunjom are a revealing example — Communist Zorin (A) is, without even saying so, taking as accepted all the American disarmament proposals which he likes, (B) is proceeding to go on from there to try to get further Western concessions without giving anything in return, and (C) is countering with a fantastic, unrealistic demand in the hope that this will create such frustration that to salvage the talks we will offer some counter-proposal that will be to our disadvantage.

The Soviets are playing upon a Western, and peculiarly an American, proclivity — a passionate desire "to get on with it," to get a solid result and get it quick.

I suspect we have by now had enough experience with these tactics not to fall into the trap. The Communists are in no hurry and we can't afford to be, either.

What is the trick which Mr. Zorin has used this time? It takes shape this way:

The U. S. has proposed that ending atomic tests be conditional upon ending the production of fissionable material for atomic weapons

The Soviets have talked longingly about ending the tests but have talked disparagingly about ending the production of fissionable material for weapons.

Evidently they didn't want to say "no" in so many words, so Mr. Zorin was authorized to try a stale and stock gimmick. He said the Soviets wouldn't stop making fissionable material for nuclear weapons unless there was an agreed "ban on the use of nuclear weapons."

The Catch

And what's the catch?

The catch is that there is absolutely no way to guarantee the enforcement of a ban against using atomic weapons. You can't inspect a state of mind. You can't enforce something that you can't know about until it has happened.

The use of nuclear weapons is already "banned," as far as a treaty commitment is concerned, as a means of aggression since aggression is illegal under the U. N. charter.

And for the United States to proclaim in advance that it will never use atomic weapons to defend itself means striking from the hands of the West the one deterrent and military counter-balance we have to the vast superiority Communist nations have in military manpower.

There can be no safety in a disarmament provision which is unenforceable and an undertaking not to use nuclear weapons is totally unenforceable.

Boys' Club Could Fill A Need in Monessen

By HARRY R. PORE Jr.

Some organization or individuals which want to make an important and lasting contribution to Monessen's community life would do well to investigate the program of the Boys' Clubs of America.

I have made some inquiries and received some information about the Boys' Clubs, and everything I have learned indicates that Monessen, and perhaps some of the other larger Valley communities, needs one. See if you don't agree.

Boys' Clubs of America is a national organization founded in 1906. There are now 460 local clubs with a total membership of over 400,000 boys ranging in age from 7 to 20. More than 100 million dollars is invested in their buildings, equipment and camps.

Each local club is autonomous and is operated under a volunteer board of directors through a trained professional staff. The financing usually comes from the Community Chest or United Fund but is often contributed directly.

The clubs themselves have rooms for various games and arts and crafts and facilities for all sorts of hobbies. Many have gyms and libraries. Some of the more elaborate clubs have swimming pools and outdoor athletic fields, and a number operate summer camps.

Open Every Day

The Boys' Club satisfies the desire of boys to have a place of their own. The membership is open to every boy in the community and nominal dues are paid.

Clubs are open as a rule every afternoon and evening, and there is always something to do either on an organized basis or individually. There are athletic teams and classes of all kinds. Physical fitness is stressed, but boys who are not adept at athletics are encouraged to develop strength and skills through non-competitive programs.

Boys' Clubs are entirely nonsectarian both as to staff and membership.

Each club has at least one full-time, professionally trained director and such other staff, volunteer or paid, as is needed and finances will permit.

From just this sketchy description of the Boys' Clubs, don't you agree that there is a definite need for such a facility here?

There might be a feeling that a Boys' Club would duplicate to some extent services and facilities provided by the Boy Scouts and Monessen's own Civic Center. But I doubt that the duplication would be serious.

For one thing, Scouting does not appeal to all boys, and many of the boys who are not attracted by Scouting would find plenty to interest them in a well conducted Boys' Club.

Then, too, Scouting is normally a once-a-week activity, whereas Boys' Clubs are available to their members daily throughout the hours when boys have time on their hands.

The Civic Center, designed as it is to serve the recreation needs of the entire community, obviously cannot cater especially to boys. But the use which is made of facilities for boys at the Civic Center suggests the need for something on a larger scale than is possible there.

Iowa School Possible

Some months ago, The Daily Independent suggested editorially that the unused Iowa School adjacent to the Civic Center might lend itself to conversion as a Boys' Club. At least the possibility might be investigated before the building is demolished as planned by the school board.

When I first became interested in the Boys' Club program a couple of years ago, I inquired what it might cost a year to operate a club in Monessen. About $15,000, I was told. Probably that figure would have to be revised upward now, and of course, the more elaborate the program and facilities, the greater the cost.

It's an ambitious undertaking, to be sure. But in considering such ventures, we can always tell ourselves that what other towns can do, we can certainly do, and plenty of cities smaller than Monessen maintain excellent Boys' Clubs.

The movement is expanding rapidly. Last year over the country a new Boys' Club was opened every 10 days and three were started in Pennsylvania in the first six months of this year — at Chester, McKeesport and Swissvale. Several in the Pittsburgh area have been operating for many years.

If any local group would like further information, I can furnish some and can provide the proper contact with the national organization.

Sights and Sounds as 'Dog Days' Approach

By JOHN H. DAY

I sprawled lazily at the base of a sour gum tree, peering indolently up into the blue vault of the wind-scrubbed sky. For three days that wind had been blowing, driving hard against timbered ridge and country hamlet, whipping along city streets with the gusty enthusiasm of an eager boulevardier. Stripped to the buff, I lay there in regal luxury while the wind zipped along upstairs and the warm sun dug out the tensions and irritations piled up from a hectic week in the harried workaday world.

So symmetrically are the branches of the gum tree engineered that it was like looking up through the spokes of a giant wagon wheel. An occasional cottony froth of cloud mass came lumbering along up there. A family of chickadees came by to inspect those branches, talking companionably among themselves and paying no attention to me whatever.

The trees all about were full of feathered activity. While most of the bird song is silenced now there were still a few willing choristers. I heard a Kentucky warbler in the ravine below me, while somewhere overhead the little cerulean warbler was buzzing his wheezy scale. A long-tailed rain crow came quietly into the gum tree, sat there for a few moments, and as quietly moved on into a neighboring oak. Later I heard him predicting a downpour in his hiccupy alto voice.

Small Sounds

As I drowsed there I was conscious of the little noises of the underwood. Scurrying chipmunks contributed to this series of tiny sounds, and even the movement of beetles as they dislodged bits of bark in their journeyings. A cicada buzzed in the trees, shrill reminder that the "dog days" lie not too far ahead. Suddenly a lone crow came careening through the area, flying low above the ground.

The day wore on and the sun moved into the zenith. A tanager sang a few lazy bars and a half dozen waxwings flew by, stopping for a time to cavort in the upper reaches of a tall oak. A tiny Acadian flycatcher operated in the trees somewhere down the hill below me. Now and then he jerked out that emphatic "Spit-chee!" which is his abrupt vocal trademark.

A pair of anglewing butterflies tippled industriously at an oozing wound far up in a near-by oak. The little beauty known as the wood nymph fluttered about on the ground. I had seen a brown monarch, the "milkweed" butterfly, along the roadway. Two little white fellows tilted past as I lay there. Later a gorgeous tiger swallowtail came exploring through the wooded aisles. The persistent wind ruined the day for other flying insects and I saw few of the usual host of "bees" and flies which are normally abroad in July.

Jet planes, far above, turned the blessed peace and quiet of the place into a sudden bedlam of sound. It was a delight to hear the chewink again as the roaring planes moved elsewhere, and to watch the speeding swallow skid around in the sky instead of those awesome man-made vehicles. As I lay there half dozing I could hear a great crested flycatcher shouting. A Carolina wren sang so loudly as to bring me full awake, suddenly aware that I had spent nearly four delightful hours sprawled there in the partial shade of the gum tree.

Before the Storm

I gathered my relaxed bones together and shuffled into boots and hiking shirt. The temper of the wind had changed and I could sense the rain clouds massing out there beyond the horizon. I moseyed leisurely up that hidden country roadway, noting white vervain and tall pokeweed in full flower. A big fox squirrel dashed off through the undergrowth, making as much noise as a horse as he stampeded through last year's dry leaves still lying there.

For a few moments the wind dropped, pending final arrangements with the storm front edging nearer. I breathed in the blessed quietness of earth and sky. Moments like these can fill the heart's deep need for something more than meat and daily bread. A wood thrush sang the opening bars of his evening hymn. A hidden cricket chirped. Then the breeze took up its task once more. A few exploratory rain drops fell into the trees. Then came the surging gusts and the dashing downpour which drove me out to the paved roadways.

The average farm house in the United States is more than 50 years old.

Committees Set By Valley Art Club

Committees have been chosen to direct the activities of the Monongahela Valley Art Club for the coming year. Mrs. B. R. Strausser, of North Charleroi, who will be club president for the year, made the appointments.

Mrs. Strausser presented her committees in the yearbooks prepared for use by the members this year. Also included in the book were several original poems by the president, who will be serving in the same capacity for the Washington County Poetry Society.

Midget Grid Loop Nears Goal

Monessen's Midget Football League needs only $83 to reach its $2,000 goal to finance the construction of the 90-foot concession stand at Memorial Stadium. Harry McCraw, treasurer of the fund committee, said that city fans and organizations have already kicked in with $1,917 . . . There's a new brother battery in the Mon Valley League: Thorton and Marvin Sleith of West Newton . . . Speaking of West Newton, that community will be represented on the Mon-Yough All-Star squad by Barry McCoy, Otto Leone, Ray Johnston, Bill Kraynack and Ron Blyner. Smithton-Jacobs Creek members are Lenny Rechichar, Harold Snowden, Bud Morrison, Marty Hlafscak, and Dom Bosetti.

Richard (Dick) Rizzardi, Penn Joint High School alumnus, will return to his alma mater as cage coach this season, succeeding Olen (Skip) Hays, who resigned after one season last Winter. He will also be a grid assistant. Rizzardi was head grid mentor at Hickory High, near Washington, the past two years . . . Charleroi High's band director Ed Sweadner was given a $600 salary increase by the board there last week for "additional duties" . . . Vernon Law is the second best hitting pitcher in the National League, showing a .294 mark, and has clubbed a double and triple. The Buc hurler trails Harvey Haddix of the Phils, who has a .300 average . . . Paul Foytak of Detroit leads the American (and National) with .306.

$100,000 Policy on Mantle

The New York Yankees have a $100,000 accident policy on Mickey Mantle with Lloyds of London. Figuring rates at $3.50 per thousand, the annual premium is $3,500 plus an extra five cents for every mile he flies . . . Either West Virginia or North Carolina State will get McKeesport's Lan Van Eman, one of the top cagers in the WPIAL last season . . . TV announcer Al Helfer's son, Al, Jr. is seeing considerable action for Luzerne in the Fayette County League at first base when he's not hurling . . . Scouts report he shows a lot of promise . . . Walt Alston, Brooklyn Manager, backed the Bucs' Bobby Bragan all the way on the controversy over Bragan apparently allowing Gus Bell to come on to third in the ninth inning of the recent All-Star game. Incidentally, Bell took the blame.

From Don Skekel, manager of the Little League champion Elks, comes this message: "In Thursday's ON THE BALL you mentioned that a balk was called against a pitcher in the Mon Valley League with no one on base. Since when does a balk entitle a batter to first?" . . . That was the point of the item. IT DOESN'T . . . Incidentally, the umpire involved later admitted his mistake . . . That home run hit by West Newton's Bill Marsh at Ninth Street Park the other day was only the second of the season stroked by the WN boys, cellar-dwellers in the Mon Valley League . . . Dick Washington, former Dunbar and Notre Dame footballer, will seek a pro berth with the Chicago Bears this upcoming season following his discharge from the Marines.

Fr. O'Toole Coaching Veteran

Any district grid coach seeking some friendly advice from an experienced mentor would do well to spend some time with the Rev. Martin J. O'Toole, pastor of St. Leonard's R. C. Church here. Father O'Toole coached in the Pittsburgh area for 14 years some time back. His teams were always outstanding but more on this later. We gathered the above information from the good Father last evening when he visited the Lawn Fete currently being conducted (concludes tonight) at the parish of his pal, Father Henry Hanse, of St. Sebastian's, Belle Vernon. The two priest pals are frequently seen touring the Mon Valley Country Club golf course where the local pastor also shines.

Today's Sports Parade—

Henrich Tabs No-Hit Superstition Nonsense

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP) — Fearless Fraley's facts and figures

Tommy Henrich, now a coach with the New York Giants, feels that ball players can carry this "superstitious nonsense" about keeping mum during the progress of a no-hit game a bit too far.

To back up his assertion, Tommy recalls a game he played at Zanesville, Ohio, while he was working his way up through the minor leagues.

"Bill Zuber, who later pitched for the Yankees and Indians, was pitching for us and it seemed like there were men on base in every inning," he remembers. "I didn't pay much attention, but they all got there through walks or errors. But I didn't realize this because nobody even mentioned that Zuber hadn't given up a hit."

Tries For Shoestring

So, with two out in the ninth, a drive was hit to Henrich in the outfield and—with his club sporting a 3-0 lead—he decided that the smart baseball thing was to let it bounce in front of him and take it on the big hop. Suddenly, with the spirit which made him a big leaguer, Tommy decided to try for a shoestring catch and just made it. When he got into the clubhouse he was asked:

"Aren't you going to give Zuber the ball?"

"If the ball on a shutout game means that much to him," Tommy nodded, "sure he can have it."

"Shutout?" said his horrified teammate, "Zuber just pitched a no-hitter." And that was the first time Henrich realized his shoestring catch was so important.

Veteran trainer Whitey Bimstein is one of the scattered few who think that Hurricane Jackson can defeat Floyd Patterson when they meet for the heavyweight championship at the Polo Grounds on July 29.

Revived Ozarks Win Third Straight

Ravens Top Myford by 12-0 Count

It was a great day for the Ravens!

Those long-suffering Birds finally exploded yesterday to wallop the third place Myfords, 12-0.

Once the scourge of the City Softball League, the Ravens have been in, or near, the cellar from the opening game of the current season. But they looked like their old selves against the Myfords.

George Calnan turned in a fine five hitter. He was never in trouble.

Meanwhile, the Ravens collected 19 hits, including four doubles, a triple and two home runs.

Tom D'Errico and Andy Kalie both homered for the Birds. Lou Kunka chipped in with three singles while Calnan had a pair of doubles.

Crawley Named On West Penn All-Star Team

Monessen High School's standout athlete, Carl Crawley, has been officially named to the Western Pennsylvania squad for the annual Pittsburgh Jaycee All-Star tilt at Forbes Field on August 13.

The husky Greyhound star who was named All-Big Six Conference first team two years in a row at both a fullback and tackle slot, joins another Big Six Conference ace, Donald Kostelnik of Brownsville on the West Penn squad.

Another valley touch to the game is sort of an ironic bit in that All-Big Six "Coach of the Year" Rab Currie will help direct the Allegheny County stars against the West Penners. Fred Milanovich of Coraopolis is the head mentor of the County team, assisted by Currie and Dave Ullom of Midway. Jeannette High mentor Markley Barnes will guide the West Penn squad, assisted by Pete Daly of Centerville and Bill Ciccone of Bessemer.

Jones 'Chews' Cards To Two-Game Margin

By MILTON RICHMAN

Sam Jones loves to chew on toothpicks and maybe that ain't etiquette, but the St. Louis Cardinals aren't fussy as long as he can help them sink their teeth into some World Series melon this fall.

Jones munched on a toothpick all Friday night while pitching a two-hitter against the New York Giants in a 5-1 victory that kept the Cards two games ahead in the National League pennant race.

For a time Friday night it appeared the hard-throwing St. Louis right hander might be enroute to the second no-hit game of his big league career. He pitched one such game for the Cubs against the Pirates, May 1, 1955, and he was working on another one Friday night until Whitey Lockman singled off his glove with two out in the sixth inning.

The only other hit he yielded was Willie Mays' 14th homer in the ninth but by that time, some runs by Stan Musial, Alvin Dark and Don Blasingame had insured Jones' third victory in a row and seventh of the campaign.

Redlegs Lose Again

Milwaukee remained two games behind St. Louis with a 5-4 victory over Pittsburgh, while Chicago defeated Philadelphia, 5-2, and the Dodgers handed the Redlegs their seventh loss in a row, 3-1.

In the American League, the Yankees stretched their lead to four games with a 4-2 triumph over the Athletics. Cleveland snapped a seven-game losing streak with an 8-6 decision over Baltimore, and Detroit topped Boston, 5-3. Rain wiped out the White Sox-Senators game.

Rookie right-hander Don McMahon had to throttle a ninth-inning Pirate rally to save the victory for Warren Spahn and the Braves. Spahn went into the ninth with a three-run lead but left when he ran into a barrage of three hits. Hank Aaron and Johnny Logan homered for the Braves.

Robin Roberts of the Phillies ran into his old trouble — the home run ball — in dropping his sixth straight game and 12th of the campaign. He gave up two homers to rookie Jerry Kindall and another to Ernie Banks, making a total of 26 gophers he has served up this season. Banks hit a two-run homer in the eighth and Kindall connected for his second homer with one on in the ninth to give Jim Brosnan his first victory.

Gino Cimoli of the Dodgers picked on a 3-0 pitch by Johnny Klippstein in the eighth inning, drilling it for a two-run triple that broke a 1-1 tie and gave Brooklyn the ball game. Until the eighth, Klippstein had given up only two hits. Big Don Newcombe pitched a five hitter and didn't walk a batter in registering his ninth victory.

Simpson Beats Ex-Teammates

Harry (Suitcase) Simpson's three-run homer in the eighth against his former Kansas City teammates broke a 1-1 tie and sent Ralph Terry down to defeat. Don Larsen posted his fifth victory although he gave way for a pinch-hitter in the eighth. Mickey Mantle clouted his 24th homer while Vic Power and Woody Held each homered for the Athletics.

Ex-Oriole Gene Woodling belted a two-run homer in the ninth off Ray Moore to bring the Indians their victory over Baltimore after the Orioles had built a 6-0 lead at the expense of Early Wynn. The Indians cut into that lead with the help of homers by Rocky Colavito and Dick Brown. Bob Nieman homered for Baltimore. Mike Garcia was the winner in relief.

Charleroi Batters West Newton, 23-1

Charleroi had no trouble battering West Newton, 23-1, in Mon Valley League action yesterday.

The winners scored ten runs in the second inning and ten more in the third.

Walt Ciepley had four hits in as many trips to the plate.

The largest compartment of a cow's stomach may have a capacity of as much as 50 gallons.

CIO Nine Clips LL Elks, 12-3

Scoring in every inning but the third, the CIO nine of the local Little League surprised the first place Elks of the National Division, with a 12-3 clomping yesterday.

Buster Karenchak tossed a five-hitter at the leaders while Larry Davis and William Tansmore allowed only six safe blows but they were enough for the Union-men to manufacture a dozen markers.

Karenchak helped his own cause with two doubles while Danny Bergstedt tried in vain to keep the Elks in the game with a double and two singles in three trips to the plate.

Twelve Elks batters went down via the strikeout route before Karenchak's slants. Tansmore, who relieved Davis, fanned four to Davis' eight.

No games are carded for today or Monday as the teams swing into playoff action with two games here Monday, the National Stars battling McKeesport at the stadium at 6:15 o'clock, the American going against Glassport, 7-1 winners over Donora last night, at the Annex at 6:15 p. m.

Pezzelle Flashes Old Form in 7-4 Win Over Vans

Those Monessen Ozarks are moving at long last.

They won their third straight game last night, clipping Van Voorhis, 7-4, at Ninth Street Park. That success evened off the Ozarks record in Mon Valley League play to 15 wins and 15 losses.

Bruce Pezzelle, the Ozarks fireballer, flashed his old form as he stopped the Vans on eight hits. Big Bruce was tough until he eased up a bit in the final frame and permitted three runs to come across.

Ron Campbell and Mike Young homered for the Ozarks.

The game started out as a pitchers duel between Pezzelle and the Vans' Joe Wujcik. After three and a half innings, the Vans had a 1-0 lead.

Big Fourth

But in their half of the fourth, the Ozarks blew the tussle wide open with a four run outburst.

Campbell started the fun with a round-tripper over the right centerfield fence. Andy Lenio walked and Mike Young reached first on an error. Pappy Johnson forced Young at second but Carl Crawley walked to load the bases.

Reliable Neil Hill, a splendid clutch hitter, promptly lashed a double which chased across three runs.

In the sixth inning, the Ozarks tallied three more times. Young started this rally with a homer over the center field fence. Crawley kept things going with a double and Hill walked. Bill Valla's long fly was dropped in center, letting in another run and two successive walks forced in a third.

Vans Start It

The Vans opened the scoring in the first inning on an error and singles by Mike Shuback and Ray Watson.

Shuback started a three-run seventh for the Vans with a double. Skip Burkhardt walked. Wujcik singled in one run and Manager John Barkey doubled in two more.

The Ozarks loaded the bases with none out in the first inning, but couldn't score. The Vans did the same thing in the sixth.

DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF

Playing Wind

A golfer whose average drive is, for example, 230 yards with no wind factor, will lose about 30 yards off that when driving into a wind of some 20 miles an hour. That ratio of 30 to 230 applies generally on shots into a 20-mile wind.

Our hypothetical player should, therefore, base his playing strategy on drives of around 200 yards when playing into this wind.

Too many golfers, faced with a strong wind, try to overcome the effects of it by adding something extra to the swing. But this is going about it backwards! There is a natural tendency to overswing when hitting into a strong wind.

You should, therefore, be extra careful to swing well within your maximum power in such a situation. Try to meet the ball solidly. And don't fight the wind. Accept the fact that your drives will be shorter.

Pirate Rally Falls Short Braves Win, 5-4

PITTSBURGH (UP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates, plauged by one-run defeats all season, added another one to the string Friday night.

The Bucs scored two tallies in the ninth inning but rookie hurler Don McMahon put out the fire and saved a 5-4 victory for the Milwaukee Braves.

Gene Baker started off the final frame action with a double and pinch - hitter Gene Freese and Bill Virdon added singles to send Baker home and tiring starter Warren Spahn to the showers.

Fastball specialist McMahon then got Mazeroski to force for the second out while allowing another run. Frank Thomas ended it all with a foul pop to the catcher.

Spahn had sailed into the final frame with a three-run lead that looked sure before the 78 degree heat began to take its toll on the 36-year-old southpaw.

The Braves tallied twice in the sixth on Hank Aaron's 28th homer of the season and a run - scoring triple by Wes Covington.

Thomas and Dee Fondy singled in the bottom of the sixth and came around to score to even up the match 2-2 after a groundout and Johnny Logan's error.

Eddie Mathews put the Braves ahead again in the seventh with a triple followed by Aaron's run-scoring long fly.

Logan, who allowed an unearned Pirate run in the sixth, made up the damage in the top of the ninth with a home run over the scoreboard. The Braves added another run in the frame thanks to Fondy's error that allowed what became the winning run to get on base in the person of Mathews.

Cosner's One-hitter Blanks Yanks, 12-0

A beautiful one-hitter by Danny Cosner gave the league-leading Braves an easy 12-0 victory over the Yankees in Little League Minors play at the Annex here yesterday.

Cosner fanned 10 and walked only three. Meanwhile his mound opponent Richard Albert pitched well enough in the "giving up hits" department allowing only six but walked 10 batters.

Cosner and Bobby Kerns doubled for the only extra base blows of the game.

The winners put together big innings, the first, fourth and fifth to post the win.

Action resumes in the league Monday with the Pirates meeting the Braves.

Turns Down Offer

NEW YORK (UP) — Manager Lou Viscousi has turned down an offer from an English promoter for lightweight champion Joe Brown to meet Willie Toweel of South Africa in a London title bout.

Yartin, Brizzi in Head Posts

Andy Yartin, one of Monessen High School's finest all-around athletes, has been named head football coach at West Newton High School.

The Golden Hornets also have a new basketball coach — Sherman Brizzi.

Yartin will replace George Bulazo who has moved up to principal. Brizzi will succeed the returing Stewart Townsend.

For the past two years, Yartin has served as line coach of the Hornets.

All-Big Six

In both 1943 and 1944, Andy was named to the All-Big Six football team. He is generally regarded as one of the finest linemen ever turned out at MHS.

Yartin was also a pretty good basketball player, but he missed his senior season after enlisting in the service.

Upon his discharge, Andy divided his time between the Monessen Page plant and California State Teachers. Three years ago, he earned his degree.

Yartin, who will also assist Brizzi in basketball, teaches physical education and driver training. His grid assistant has yet to be named.

Yartin, his wife, and two daughters, now live at 210 Highland Ave. in West Newton

No Surprise

Brizzi's selection as basketball coach was no surprise. He had been groomed for the job by the venerable Townsend who stepped down this year after almost a half century of successful coaching.

Married and the father of five boys, Brizzi lives in Webster. He is a graduate of Donora High and holds a bachelor and masters degree from the University of Pittsburgh.

Brizzi is an instructor in the commercial department.

Both Yartin and Brizzi will assume their new duties this coming school year.

In another athletic develoment, the West Newton School Board has named principal George Bulazo as athletic director.

Blackhawks Increase Prep League Lead

John Bogovich and Madzey paced the 'Hawks to their 14-hit victory, Bogovich blasting a double and a home run, Madzey a two bagger and a three-baser. Other extra base blows were struck by John Kuhar and Dan Barton for the winners, a double and triple respectively.

Dick DiBiaso shared honors with the hitters as he tossed five-hit ball, striking out 10.

Action resumes Monday when the White Sox go against the Rockets.

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dearest and loved brother, Ernest G Renzetti who died of wounds received in action 13 years ago tomorrow, July 14, 1944
Remembrance is a golden chain
Death tries to break, but all in vain
To have, to love and then to part
Is the greatest sorrow of one's heart
The years may wipe out many things
But this they wipe out never
The memory of those happy days
When we were all together.
At night when all is silent
And sleep forsakes our eyes
Our thoughts are in that lonely grave
Where our dear brother lies
Gone from this world so swiftly
Plucked like a flower in bloom
So young, so fair so lovely
Called away too soon.
Sadly missed by Brother and Sister Nello A. Tinere and Mrs Sue Mendicino

In loving memory of our dear daughter and sister, Baby Debbie Lou Anderskovich, who died two years ago today, July 13, 1955
We had a little treasure once
She was our joy and pride
We loved her ah, perhaps too well
For soon she slept and died
All is dark within our dwelling,
Lonely are our hearts today.
For the one we loved so dearly,
Has forever passed away
Sadly missed by Mother and Sister.

In loving memory of our dear husband father and grandfather, Anton Plavetich, who died three years ago today, July 13, 1954
Memories are treasures no one can steal,
Death leaves a heartache no one can heal:
Loved dearly in life and living yet
In the hearts of the ones who will never forget.
A silent thought, a secret tear
Keeps his memory ever dear
Sadly missed by Wife, Children and Grandchildren.

Silence Golden But Has Price, Youngster Learns

CONCORD, N. C. (UP)—Silence is golden but like everything else it has a price. In the case of 10-year-old Kitty Butler, the price is a black horse with a white spot on its nose.

Kitty has been talking a blue streak about a horse since she was only four.

Two weeks ago, her father, John Butler, said "If you don't talk for 30 days, I'll get you a horse."

Now, says Butler, "she doesn't talk to anybody."

She has been silent for 15 days. She writes notes or makes signs for what she wants.

After two weeks, her daddy gave in.

"I told her I'm going to get her a horse anyway if she breaks down before 30 days. But she wrote a note and said 'I'm going to wait 30 days and then you won't have any excuse.

Christmas Atmosphere at Meeting of Church Society

An atmosphere of Christmas, with pine boughs, Christmas decorations and the joy of Christmas giving, prevailed at the meeting of the Woman's Society for Christian Service of the Fayette City Methodist Church Thursday evening in the church social rooms.

The theme of the evening was Christmas in July. Mrs. Wellington Baldwin, program leader, presented the worship service. The members of the society presented gifts of combs, yard goods, ribbons and hair clips in Christmas packages.

These gifts were taken by carriers, Carolyn Barker, Carol Ann Stephens, Cynthia Hare, Peggy Skibo and Sally Scholl, who sang a vocal selection. The gifts were presented to an imaginary mission in India.

The Worship service at that point was led by Mrs. Clyde Wyatt Mrs. John Stimmell and Mrs. Samuel Miller were Indian natives. Carol singing completed the program.

During the business meeting, a report of the recent festival was given. Announcement was made of the annual Sunday School picnic to be held Friday at Deems Grove. The church was to be used as a mass care center and volunteer welfare workers from the society were asked to be at the church by noon for the air raid alert.

A social hour followed. Hostesses were Mrs. Walter Ridgway, Mrs. Howard Opfar, Mrs. Wilham Parry, Mrs S. Paegart and Mrs James Moody.

Ridgways Leave For Middle West

Mrs Walter Ridgway and two sons, the Rev. James Ridgway, of Perryopolis and Lee, of Fayette City, will leave Monday morning for a month's vacation in the middle west.

They expect to visit for several weeks with relatives in Iowa and also to tour points of interest. The Rev. Mr Ridgway, pastor of the Perryopolis Methodist Church, will spend a portion of the period visiting the location where he served as assistant pastor while attending seminary in Chicago.

Former Residents Here for Visit

Mr. and Mrs John Wheeler, and two children Johnny and Mary Jane of Los Angeles, Calif., are visiting in this area with friends and relatives

Wheeler is the former principal of the Fayette City public school. The family moved to California last year when both Mr. and Mrs Wheeler accepted positions in the California school system.

Nixon Praises Boy Scouts at Fourth Jamboree

VALLEY FORGE, Pa (UP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon told 50,000 Boy Scouts Friday night that they stood for "the things that make America great."

Nixon spoke at ceremonies marking the opening of the fourth National Boy Scout Jamboree on the historic ground where Gen. George Washington and his poorly-clothed colonial army suffered during the winter of 1777-78

The vice president said the scouts would remember the jamboree 'as one of the finest experiences of your life.'

"The thing that make America great are the things that the Boy Scout of America stand for."

Earlier, Dr. Arthur A. Shuck, chief scout executive, read a telegram from President Eisenhower who said the scout would return home better citizens" as a result of camping at Valley Forge.

The huge jamboree began when an aerial bomb burst over the 2,000-acre campsite at 9 a. m. edt.

The Scouts, representing each state and virtually every nation of the free world, snapped to attention and delivered their famed three-finger salute as the Stars and Stripes was unfurled while a 160-piece band played the National Anthem. Then the official jamboree flag, showing Washington kneeling in prayer at Valley Forge was raised.

The ceremonies opened a full-week of activites and contests designed to keep the Scouts going until the jamboree ends next Thursday.

Life Expectancy of Diabetic

By H. N. BUNDESEN M. D.

Can the average diabetic expect to live as long as persons not troubled with the disease? Unfortunately, the answer is "No."

While we've come a long way in helping the diabetic to lead a more normal and fuller life, we've still got a long way to go. Through use of insulin and carefully programmed diets, most diabetics have been able to add years to their lives.

In fact, it has been only in recent years that persons who contracted diabetes early in childhood have managed to attain the age of 45.

Insulin, you see, was introduced a scant 35 years ago. Until that time, children afflicted with the disease could expect to live relatively few years.

Yet even now longevity of diabetics continues to be well under that for nondiabetics. The plain fact is that we still do not have perfect control over the disease.

An analysis made by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company of the life expectancy of the diabetic shows quite a disparity with the nondiabetic in many instances.

This is especially true among children and young adults.

The analysis, based on the experience of the Joslyn Clinic of Boston for the period between 1947 and 1951, showed the death rates for young diabetics were from 5 to 10 times the rates for the general population. In middle and later life, the ratio was at least two to one.

At the age of 10, for example, a diabetic youngster could expect another 44.3 years of life. That is about 17 years less than the life expectancy for the general population in the same age group.

At the age of 30, a diabetic could look forward to another 30.1 years — about 12-½ years less than the non-diabetic 30-year-olds.

A 50-year-old diabetic could expect to live 16.9 years more. The average nondiabetic at that age could count on 24.9 additional year of life.

However, I want to emphasize that this does not mean that all diabetics will not outlive their healthier neighbors. These are statistical averages only and do not refer to individual cases.

Besides, our scientists are constantly coming up with ideas for new types of therapy.

Question and Answer

T. V.: What is osteoporosis and how can it be treated?

Answer: Osteoporosis is the loss of vital minerals, particularly calcium, of bones.

It may occur with old age, with disuse of a limb and in women passing through the menopause.

Usually, a combination of male and female hormones, along with an adequate diet and calcium and phosphorus preparation, will correct this condition.

Gabor Sister Says Acting Strong Suit

(Aline Mosby is on vacation.)

By EVA GABOR

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—As proud as I am to be a Gabor, I'll have to admit there are times when it would be easier if I had another professional name.

I love being interviewed, but it seems that since I am a Gabor, interviewers are primarily interested in my opinions of men, women, love and goulash.

When I tell them that Mama's the only person ever to have given me a fur coat, or that acting is the main interest in my life, they smile patronizingly.

The truth is, glamor, diamonds, minks, men, sex and sophistication get more credit than deserved for the part they play in my life.

"I'm an actress first. Everything else is incidental, co-incidental, relatively unimportant and greatly exaggerated!

But alas, my name is always being unduly coupled with stories of caviar, champagne and continental drawing rooms.

Diamonds? I do have a few. About $150,000 worth, but they're investments. I bought them myself. Men know practically nothing about buying jewelry.

All my life I've had to beat glamor down.

Less publicized aspects of me are the ones about which I'd rather be asked.

When I came to Hollywood I was 17. I had never acted. I had never studied. I acted—and I've never stopped acting. I studied—and I have never stopped studying.

The longest lived creature in the world today is said to be the tortoise, some of which live to be 300 years old.

'Average Person' Fictitious

In designing a building for the use of the physically handicapped, an architect is designing a building that will be more convenient to the non-handicapped.

F. Cuthbert Salmon, associate professor of architecture at the Pennsylvania State University, says that too often public buildings are designed for "the average person."

"The 'average person'," he says, "is a fictitious character and if he did exist, he would be particularly dull. If the designer takes such a person as his design model, the result is either a dull building or an impractical solution."

"Some buildings," Salmon continues, "have been built to impress this nonexistent average citizen."

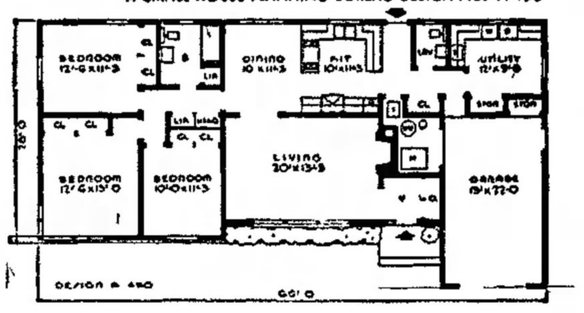
He refers especially to buildings that have a monumental flight of steps on the main facade, often impressive, but not welcoming.

"The designer of such buildings was more concerned in achieving a psychological effect rather than a building with physical convenience," Salmon says

The Pennsylvania building code now requires public buildings of more than 30,000 square feet to have a grade level entrance or ramp.

Salmon says we design the kitchen in our home for convenience and build one-story houses for convenience Our public buildings also should be designed for convenience, not only of the physically handicapped, but of all who use them.

A SMALL HOUSE PLANNING BUREAU DESIGN NO. A-450



DESIGN A-450. Everything in this hip roof house has been planned for, as evidenced by the lavatory and closet at the rear entry. The utility room has a storage closet, sink and cabinets. A built-in oven and range are in the kitchen. The electric or gas incinerator placed in the heater room is readily accessible. The large bedrooms have wardrobe type closets.

The simple construction calls for natural stone, casement type windows, wide horizontal siding and colorful asphalt shingles. Floor area is 1568 square feet, cubage is 18,032 cubic feet.

For further Information about DESIGN A-450, write the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn. In Canada the Small House Planning Bureau of Canada, St John, New Brunswick.

Laundry Rooms Popular

Laundry centers in today's homes are likely to be found almost anywhere, not necessarily in the basement, as in older homes

Nowadays, homes may have the laundry equipment in the kitchen, or in an adjacent utility room Other places include porches, pantries, hall closets, and even bathrooms.

The greater flexibility in locating the laundry center is related to the nature of modern washing machines and dryers and the way they are used

With their automatic appliances, homemakers now tend to launder frequently, rather than one day a week, and they like to have the equipment near the sources of soiled clothes Also, appliances are designed more compactly and more attractively, so that they are suitable for a wide choice in location.

Trimly designed laundry appliances in their newer, more prominent locations call for surroundings that measure up to high standards of eye-appeal and easy upkeep The way basements have become part of the house, laundries here too require an attractive appearance

One wall covering well suited to modern laundry centers is predecorated hardboard paneling.

Basement Advantage

Surveys show that the higher-priced the house, the more likely it is to have a basement, says the Better Basement Institute.

Water Appliances Set Record

With the current activity in modernization taking up some of the slack resulting from the decline in new housing starts, manufacturers of hot water heating equipment, plumbing fixtures, water heaters, water softeners, and other water-connected appliances are expecting 1957 to show a continued high level of sales.

About $3 billion more was invested in modernization in 1956 than in 1955. A substantial part was used for the updating of heating and plumbing equipment

Nearly all divisions of the hot water heating and chilled water cooling industry showed a gain in 1956 over 1955, according to the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau.

Cast iron heating boiler sales were up .03 per cent; steel boilers up about 1 per cent; baseboard radiation up 1.1 per cent; and finned tube radiation up 4 per cent.

The Institute of Boiler and Radiator Manufacturers, which compiled these figures, has stated that approximately 28 5 per cent of new houses erected in 1956 were heated with hot water.

Plumbing fixture sales in 1956 dropped only five per cent in volume as compared with a decline of 15.8 per cent in new construction. The trend toward the multiple-bathroom house and the activity in modernization account for the good showing of the plumbing fixture industry.

Storage batteries and electric cable coverings account for 50 per cent of the lead used in the United States.

HOME OWNERS' QUESTION BOX

Q — How can stop bugs and insects from sticking t o freshly painted outside walls?

A — A tablespoon of citronella added to each gallon of paint should effectively keep the bugs and insects away from the wet paint.

Q — What causes dark streaks of dirt to appear on walls and ceilings? In our house, the streaks seem to take the form of the spaces between the wall studs and ceiling joists.

A — These are called 'Ghost marks" and appear most frequently in houses which are not insulated. The streaks are caused by warm, dust-laden air which tends to move to and through the colder surfaces between the framing members. Mineral wool insulation puts a stop to "ghost marks" by making the temperature of walls and ceilings uniformly warm. Mineral wool also saves winter fuel and makes the house more comfortable in all seasons.

Q — Sooner or later the mortar always seems to come out of the cracks I've filled in the concrete walls of my garage. How can I fill the cracks once and for all?

A — If you'll chisel out the crack into a dovetail-shaped hole, it will hold the mortar much better. Also, be sure you soak the hole thoroughly before you fill it.

2 — How can I stop my stairs from squeaking?

A — Generally, the creaking sound in stairs is caused by movement of treads or riser boards. A simple solution is to drive finish nails through the treads into he riser boards. Attaching cove molding under the treads where they join the riser boards in front or corner blocks at the same joint in the rear will also solve the problem.

Q — The soil in some of my house plant pots has become compact and hard. Is this doing any harm?

A — Very definitely. Such hardening prevents the plant roots from obtaining enough air. You'd better plow the surface with a fork to loosen it up, but be careful not to dig deeply enough to damage the roots. Incidentally, watering the plants too heavily is one of the major causes of such surface hardening.

Sun Goes to Work In Home Building

Now the sun has gone to work in the home-building and modernizing field.

A new asphalt strip shingle for roofs is made with an adhesive on its under side which forms a bond with the top side of the shingle beneath.

The heat from the sun causes the adhesive to form a strong bond with the top side of the shingle beneath, and to provide a roof which remains intact in the face of the strongest winds encountered anywhere in the country.
